More Frauds in Erie.

HOW ERIE HAS BEEN SKINNED AGAIN-HOW DEALERS IN SCRAP-IRON AND CAR-AXLES TURN THE PENNY BY COLLUSION WITH DIS-HONEST RAILROAD OFFICIALS.

Before Mr. Hugh J. Jewett, the receiver I the Erie Railway Company, went to Europe, investigations were commenced by trained detectives of the company into various frauds practiced by officers connected with the road in regard to the sale to outside parties residing in Paterson, N. J., of scrap-iron, car-wheels, belting, and the general old material accumulated by a railroad in the course of its business. The revelation of fraud became at that time so clear that Henry Bowman, general purchasing agent, was discharged from the employ of ntendent of locomotive power; Robert John Schofield, weigher; and John Borie, chief clerk at the same place. Since the receiver's absence in Europe the evidence has accumulated of unfair dealing to an alarming extent, and the following particulars were furnished to a Herald whose familiarity with the latest develop- at the meeting yesterday. ments cannot be doubted. It seems that a certain dealer in old metals, in Paterson, by the name of Sigmond Dringer, a German, who only arrived there a few years since a poor man, has accumulated a large fortune by what is claimed to be fraudulent collusion with the officials of the road named above. The affair has got into the courts, and it is stated that Dringer agrees to pay of $37,000, a sum much less than is alleged to be due, in order to have his property restored to him from the receiver's a proper bond for $15,000. The modus op-erandi of these frauds, according to reports "JAMES H. PLATT." erandi of these frauds, according to reports made to C. L. Atterbury, was to bring new leather and rubber belting to the same establishment at a valuation far below the market prices. Most of the stuff would from the place, and a good deal of it found its way back to the Erie road through the connivance of the purchasing agents, and

May 29, 1875, and shipped by him to E. Samuels & Co., Philadelphia, on May 4th, there was a deficiency to the Erie company of $481.51, owing to the weight charged to Dringer at Susquehanna, and while the price charged to the latter was but $35 per ton, Samuels paid for the same lot $48 per ton, he also paying the freight on the same. According to information received from John K. Shivers & Co., a well-known firm of Philadelphia iron manufacturers, and V. Blackburn, master mechanic, formerly of the Jersey City shop, but now at Susquehanna, all kinds of steel are sold at so much per pound, 903 MAIN STREET, and not per ton. The lowest value to the company at the time of the Dringer purchase was 24 cents per pound, and the metaldealer paid but 15 cents; net loss, according to the report, to the company in the above transaction, $4,028.23. In the final report of the detective to the company touching the frauds in the matter of belting, it appears that F. K. Hain, one of the dismissed officials, by his authority on January 24th last the following order to forward all the leather belting you have stored at your shop to Robert Wallace, Susquehanna." According to the above general order there was shipped immediately from Jersey City and Port Jervis, Rochesties of old belting. By order of D. Galbraith shipment of the same was made to they elected him by forty-five majority, who Dringer. It is claimed that this was underweighed as well as undervalued. The trade in axles between the officials and Dringer is also the subject of an tom-honse ring of doing dirty work, but especial report from the experts. By this November 4th last this dealer received from of Modocs retired to James Scott's, on Cary the Erie road 210 tons, or about 1,414 axles, at $34 per ton, making $7,140. When his place was put under the direction of the court and the receiver (E. N. Miller, of Newark, appointed), an account of the axle his yards he had on hand 1,152; he had sold to George A. Boynton, No. 70 Wall street, in this city, 6851, for which he received $3,497.26 cash; he sold to John W. Quincy, No. 98 William street, 1961; to Edward Smith, No. 332 Walnut street, Philadelphia, This makes a gain somehow obtained from the Erie company of about 760 axles, weighing in gross 259,160 pounds, or about

$3,774 in cash value. In February a shipment was sent in car Congress we had better let Gilbert C. Wal-2,615 marked: "R. Wallace, care of Drin- ker go to Congress from this district, for ger, Paterson, scrap-iron." This car was suspected and followed by means known to the City Central Committee Mr. Russell rerailroad detectives. Beneath the old scrap- ceived 34 votes, Mr. R. A. Paul 32, and Mr. iron was found 108 bars of new steel, or about five and a half tons, or in cash not be instructed they were declared not value $641.76, although the Erie Company elected, and then they elected Charles Jarhad paid for it $1,268.64. It was understood that Dringer paid, after the discovery, in compromise to the company, about $250. endorsed by the whole house. And in God's Mr. Leonard S. "We, the Republican voters of Madison Ward, do ask you to publish this card for the benefit of the people: There has been a club formed on Cary street, at James Scott's barber-shop, called the Hayes and Wheeler Campaign Club, numbering about seventyfive or eighty men, and we sincerely believe it to be as much in the interest of Tilden and Hendricks as Hayes and Wheeler, for at four meetings held by that club Mr. Austin Burrell had been unanimously endorsed for president of Madison Ward, and Monday night, in the organization of Madison Ward, Mr. Burrell was declared elected on the first ballot; after which a squad of the Porter men arrived at the hall, and on entering, inquired what action the meeting had taken; and it was announced that Mr. Austin Burrell had been elected president of the ward; and immediately, on motion of John C. of superintendent of motive-power, issued | Tilman, and seconded by Charles Barrett, it was agreed to reconsider the first ballot. the master mechanies: "You will please and Mr. Burrell was again placed up for election, and he immediately arose and de-

Commonwealth costs collected, $125.30.

Total, $536.30.

"Tell me the reason the arrests are so much larger in the months of July and August of each year than in other months. Is it because the preachers are generally absent from the city about that season? Or is it the effects of the watermelon juice on the people? The arrests by the police are larger this month—as you can see by the enlosed memorandum—than ever before." The following is the statement alluded to

'Arrests made in August, 1871, 726; arrests made in July, 1872, 731; arrests made in August, 1872, 744; arrests made in July, 1873, 658; arrests made in August, 1873 642; arrests made in August, 1874, 689; armade in August, 1876, 814.

MANCHESTER NEWS. Never in the reportorial career of your correspondent was Manchester as dull as it was on yesterday. The hanging of Hillary Page was the principal topic of conversation, and there was little else to interest the observer outside of the fact that a prominent citizen on Bainbridge street had had his brains nearly mauled out by his wife. It appears that he went home, and being rather oppressed by the heat took his seat in the back-room and chucked his feet out jar couldn't stand straight after contact with Mr. Tootson's No. 17 shoes. Mrs. Tootson heard the fall of the jar, and the talk she administered unto her husband resembled the fall of a kerosene amp upon the skull of an innocent and unoffending infant.

An Unlooked-for Disturbance.-D. Williams, a gipsy belonging to a band near the city, was before Mayor Chiles yesterday morning, charged with assaulting a brother gipsy named St. Clair. The matter was compromised by Williams paying the costs.

The Police Report shows the number of arests for the month of August to have been ninety-six. Six were felony cases and were ent to the grand jury. This is considered large month's work, and attests the efficiency of our police force-Captain James A. Lipscomb, chief; James B. Fitzgerdal, No. 1; R. P. Smith, No. 2; and R. C. Jones, No. 3.
